

BUILDING STRONGER COMMUNITIES SERIES

YOUR CLIMATE ACTION PLAN CAN EARN
$125,000
FOR REGIONAL PROJECTS!

Virtual and In-person at KVCOG, AVCOG, CEBE & ACTT
Tuesday, January 31, 10:00 -11:00 am

Join service providers A Climate To Thrive (ACTT) and Southern Maine Planning and Development Commission (SMPDC) for a discussion on how they each brought together neighboring communities to write climate action plans. While the benefits of multi-town collaboration can be stymied by any number of barriers, successful groups share how they overcame those obstacles when they focused on the “dollars and sense” of working with the Community Resilience Partnership. Kennebec Valley Council of Governments (KVCOG), working with two groups converging around land conservation, community solar projects, and public works cooperatives share some lessons and challenges to working alongside communities with a variety of priorities and perspectives.

Speakers:

- Johannah Blackman, Executive Director, A Climate to Thrive
- Karina Graeter, Sustainability Coordinator, Southern Maine Planning and Development Commission
- Yvette Meunier, Regional Resiliency Coordinator, Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments
- Robyn Stanicki, Community Resilience Team Coordinator, Kennebec Valley Council of Governments
